Design Culture Now is the first survey of contemporary American design to span the disciplines of architecture, graphic design, and product design. It presents cutting-edge work in architecture, landscape architecture, urban design, theatrical design, fashion, typography, film graphics, products, and new media. Written and assembled by three leading critics and curators, Donald Albrecht, Ellen Lupton, and Steven Skov Holt, the book explores the design artifacts and practices that will define the twenty-first century.

The twenty-first century has witnessed the design of new materials and technologies that will define the future. The book presents architecture, fashion, industrial design, and graphic design, contextualizing the work in the larger cultural framework. Featuring over eighty individuals and firms, Design Culture Now represents a critical overview of leading developments in American design. The book will present a critical overview of leading developments in American design. The book will present a critical overview of leading developments in American design. The book will present a critical overview of leading developments in American design. The book will present a critical overview of leading developments in American design. The book will present a series of exhibitions exploring the emerging issues. Featuring over eighty individuals and firms, Design Culture Now presents cutting-edge work in architecture, landscape architecture, urban design, theatrical design, fashion, typography, film graphics, products, and new media. Written and assembled by three leading critics and curators, Donald Albrecht, Ellen Lupton, and Steven Skov Holt, the book explores the design artifacts and practices that will define the twenty-first century.

$29.95

Donald Albrecht
Ellen Lupton
Steven Skov Holt